Mr. and Mrs. Cudahy feel that they have cause for relief not only over the return of their youthful son, but also bedaughters were not included in the conspiracy which has caused them so much anxiety and grief, as a statement of the conspirators, overheard by the lad while he was in their power, indicates that they had been attempting for a month to secure possession of one of his sisters.

Mr. Cudahy had been very reticent throughout the affair, and up to this afternoon refused absolutely to talk, either of the kidnapping or the payment of the ransom and return of his son. All information given to the public has been through his attorney, Meiville Sears, and doubt the story that the boy had been spirited away. This skepticism, however, melted away when young Cudahy related the story of being overpowered, placed in a closed carriage, blindfolded and bound, and carried many miles from the city to a place, the location of which he cannot identify, and his father made

Father Keeps Faith with Kidnappers. A consultation was held and the matter gone over in detail. Plans were discussed for capturing the bandits when they should make their appearance at the rendezvous that had been designated. But one after another these plans were dropped as being impracticable.

Finally, impelled by the strain under which the entire household was laboring, Mr. Cudahy decided to comply with the terms offered, and ransom his son

A trusted messenger, sworn to secrecy was sent for the money, which brought to the Cudahy residence. dinner, Mr. Cudahy had one of his horses harnessed to a light buggy, and, taking the money in it with him, left alone for the designated place at which the mone was to be left. In the buggy he carried a red lantern. He drove five miles west of the town on the Sherman avenue re until he came to a white lantern hangn a short stick beside the road Alighting from his buggy, Mr. Cudahy deposited the sack containing the money near the stick bearing the white light Then, without seeing any one, he return

Meanwhile the abductors had seen the red light coming up the road, and as soon as the buggy disappeared they took away the money and prepared to keep faith with the father. I would have been conscious of a sense to say anything about the Cudahy case gram, additional to that which came yes-I would have been conscious of a sense written Wednesday to Mr. Cudahy by the outlaws, naming this condition as a surety for the return of the boy.

Yesterday about noon, and several hours after a letter had been left on the lawn of the Cudahy residence, another missive was delivered to Mr. Cudahy at his residence. It came through the mails, and contained a proposition to return the boy safe and unharmed, provided the sum of $25,000 wis pald that night.

Cleveland Gives the Causes of

REORGANIZATION PLAN UNWISE

The ex-President Would Have Democracy Renounce and Repudiate Free Silver and Other Populistic Doctrines and Return to the Creed that Gave It an Overwhelming Victory in 1892-His Plan Would Be "Give the Rank and File a Chance."

ident Grover Cleveland contributes to this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post, of Philadelphia, an extended article on the plight of the Democracy and the remedy. Mr. Cleveland begins by reviewing the history of the party, and he discusses its defeats since 1864 in detail. In taking up the question of the present condition of the Democracy, he says that the success of the party in 1892 was so decisive and overwhelming that a long ntinuance of its supremacy was anticipated. Then came "the fallacy of" free silver and Populism. Mr. Cleveland proeeds as follows: "The culmination of Democratic woe was reached when its compact with these un-Democratic forces was complete, and when our rank and file were summoned to do battle under banners which bore strange symbols and were held aloft in unfamiliar hands. The result of such a be-trayal was foredoomed. This abandon-ment of the principles of true Democracy, this contemptuous disobedience of its traditions, and this deliberate violation of the law of its strength and vigor were, by a decree as inexorable as that of fate, followed by the inevitable punishment of stunning, staggering defeat.

"Second Battle on False War Cries." "The disaster of 1872, invited by similar mad adventure, was quickly followed by a return to the professions and practices of sane Democracy. But the extent and persistency of our wanderings in 1836 is illustrated in a most astounding way by the command, issued on the day of our rout and discomfiture, that a second battle should be fought on the same field, with the same false war cries, and the same leadership that had brought us to the surrounding gloom of defeat."

Again he says: "Thus in 1900 the lesson of 1896 was contemptuously rejected, and every hope of Democratic success was wilfully cast aside. Again our long-suffering rank and file, whose loyalty and obedience deserv-ed better things, were sacrificed in a New York, Dec. 19.—A second cableever before, that the only forces that can win Democratic success are adherence to mediate action by the United States for the protection of Americans, whose lives and properties are imminently endangered. A general attack, the cablegram says is being planned won all Americans that foretokens Democratic enthusiasm that foretokens Democratic condemning "the general government for protecting itself in the functions against violent obstruction within a State."

Further on he declares: "I believe no Democrat will have the hardihood to deny that we have fought our last two campaigns in alliance with un-Democratic forces, and that this alliance was immensely costly in defeat. Is there not good reason to suppose that even in success such an alliance would have proved unprofitable and dangerous?" He preaches the return of Democracy to its old faith, saying: to its old faith, saying:

"Sincere Democrats of every condition and in every part of the land realize that the situation of the party needs repair. Reorganization is not necessary; but a return from our wandering is absolutely essential. Let us be frank with ourselves and caudidly acknowledge the futility of attempting to gain Democratic victories except in the Democratic cause and through Democratic methods.

Futility of Rearrangements.

Futility of Reorganization. "Reorganization is worse than useless and the arrogation of superior party. Virtue will breed only mischief. This is a time for sober thought, tolerant language, and fraternal counsels. We are dealing with the condition of a party that cannot be destroyed by external foes; and since its ruin can be wrought only from within, it should be imperishable. Above all things, there should be a manly renunciation and avoidance of undue ontrol. Democracy will not operate efficiently on sectional lines. "There is much for us to do, and the future is full of Democratic duty and opportunity. Our fighting forces will respond listlessly and falteringly if summoned to a third defeat in a strange of true Democracy they will gather for battle with old-time Democratic enthuslasm and courage. "If I should attempt to epitomize what Cherries:

I have written, by suggesting a plan for Democracy, I should embody it to the Whortleberries, Democracy, I should embody it in these words: Give the rank and file a chance."

nent Democrats in Congress who are not quite ready yet to declare themselves publicly. In fact, there has been some chagrin that Mr. Cleveland should have sounded a note that certain House Democrats, who have been training with the regular free silver faction of the party, tended to sound themselves. This much is certain as far as most o the minority leaders at the Capitol are concerned. They hope for a full and c plete reconciliation between the two fac-tions before another campaign is on. They recognize the full force of Cleveland says. One of the leading Democrats in the House is even now prepar-ing a speech, which he will deliver as soon as the proper occasion comes, em-phasizing the desire for harmony and for getting together on new lines, and shall ing loose from the Populistic associatio of the past four years.

Very naturally the Bryan Democrat who call themselves regular, desire that this shall be done with as little sacrifi of dignity to themselves and with as little credit to the other wing of the party for unseemly haste in the matter, as th next important campaign is two years of but the amalgamation will undoubted proceed gradually and with the full as proval of both sides. The feature of the situation is th

The resture of the situation is that the Bryan men want harmony and unity just as much as the Cleveland men, and from this time on are likely to work just as earnestly for a regenerated party. Mr Bryan's late lieutenants will shape their utterances to that end, and the rank and file are likely to follow them.

closed unchanged. December corn closed the January 3-8c., and May 1-8c. lower. Outs chosed unchanged, and provisions practically at yesterday's. The day preceding three days' suspension of husiness was, as might be supposed, unproductive of activity in wheat as his other markets. The inclination of traders to keep out was not disturbed by the news, which was coloriess. Liverpool was inactive, and prices were practically unchanged. Northwest receipts were liberal. Minneapolis confirmed reports of a heavy flour business for expert yesterday, and millers were said to be buying wheat. Argentine news was conflicting, as assual. May opened 1-861-ic. 'ower, at 72.7-8, sold between 12.3-4672.7-8 and 73.1-8, and closed unchanged at 73672.1-8. Exporters reported four business dataken for exports. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour were equal to 528,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 794,000 bushels. Minneapolis and Duluth renorted 524 cars, against 413 last week. Local receipts were 115 cars, one of contract grade. A year ago was a holiday.

Freer country offerings and accumulating receipts had a depressing effect on corn. May held fairly steady, but January and December found a chilly welcome. May sold between 37.1-8 and 53.8 and closed 3-8c. depressed, at 33.7-8. Receipts were 611 cars, nine of contract grade.

Oats were dull and neglected. There was a good shipping demand, but the car scarcity curtailed business. May sold between 28.5-8 and 23.1-2 and closed unchanged at 23.5-8. Receipts were 611 cars, nine of contract grade.

Oats were dull but steady on lighter hog receipts than expected. January park sold between 25.2-2 and 15.171-2 and closed unchanged at 23.5-8. Receipts were 247 cars. Pravisions were dull but steady on lighter hog receipts than expected. January years and the second of 12.2-2 and 12.171-2 and closed unchanged at 22.5-8. Receipts were 247 cars. Pravisions were dull but steady on lighter hog receipts than expected. January years and the second at 22.2-2 and 12.2-1.2 and 15.2-1.2 and 15.2-2 and
